Material World

Sculptor Frances Bagley's new exhibition, Happy Daze, is on display through April 25 at Marty Walker Gallery, 2135 Farrington St., 214.749.0066 or martywalkergallery.com.

Your exhibition has been described as "a mutation of mediums"—what led to these explorations?

"I'm very interested in materials, partly because they convey information and meaning. They offer me a chance to experiment with what they can do other than their intended use."

You enjoy the challenge of the unfamiliar?

"That's part of the joy of it and part of the drive of it for me. I'm not trying to struggle with everything, but I'm not afraid to struggle either."

Does a predetermined sense of abstract narrative direct the work?

"I start with putting materials together and then they start talking to me: One leads to another and unfolds itself. I'm not deliberately trying to confuse people; I'm trying to get them to wonder."
