

PapercITY

March 2006

Marty Walker's Inner Artists

Author: Kate Rush

Tom Orr's Untitled, 2005 at Marty Walker Gallery

It is important to painter and former curator Marty Walker that an art exhibit connect with the community. As director of her very own gallery, she'll make sure of it. "Knowing firsthand the manner in which an artist approaches his or her work," she says, "can help me foster an environment that cultivates and supports their creative process." In the Trinity Strand neighborhood near the Dallas design district, the new Marty Walker Gallery at 2135 Farrington Street – you'll know it by its stunning, minimalist façade – represents contemporary heavy hitters Frances Bagley, Robert Boland, Mark Flood, Ted Kincaid, Jody Lee, Tom Orr and Victoria Reynolds, all with specific ties to the Texas art community. Inaugural exhibition through March 25; Mark Flood's Lace Paintings opens March 31.

Marty Walker Gallery, 2135 Farrington St. Hours: Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and by appointment. 214-749-0066. www.martywalkergallery.com. Free.